Para 5 Under the imprest system laid down in paras 6 to 8, Savings will rarely be available for refund to the account of the imprest is not entrusted for any particular work, but for expenditure on all the works which may be in course of execution in the Taluk, and it is only when no works remain to be carried on, that any Surplus money or Savings can possibly accrue. When such is the case, the money must be paid into the Local Treasury and entered in the Amildar's Imprest account (C) as well as in the Deputy Superintendent's Monthly Abstract of Receipts and Disbursements for the whole District (I) as "Surplus of Imprest refunded to Treasury". The amount will similarly be credited in the District Treasury Accounts under the head of Public Works Department.

6. The amount to be placed by the Deputy Superintendent's cheques in the hands of [Imprest for Builders] Builders, will be limited to a fixed sum, or "Imprest," for which the Builder will have to account, before he can be supplied with any further sum.

7. The Builder will have to prepare his cash book according to Form 6, the original Sides of which he will [Builders Imprest Accounts, Form 6] keep in his own office record, and the duplicate he will cut off, and submit to the Deputy Superintendent, whenever he requires a further supply of cash. The Deputy Superintendent will then recoup him, by a cheque for the amount of disbursements shown in the accounts; it is not necessary, or even at all desirable that the Builder should submit these accounts at stated intervals, nor that he should defer their submission till the full amount of the his imprest is exhausted, as if he did so, he would be embarrassed from want of funds. The Auditor should therefore submit his accounts with due regard to his probable requirements, either when his imprest is about half expended, or at any other time he may find necessary taking care to allow sufficient time for the Deputy Supt - intendent to recoup him the amount for which he has accounted before the balance of his imprest is quite exhausted.

8. The amount of "the proto" granted to each Auditor will be fixed by the Deputy Superintendent, with the approval of the Superintendent of the Division in a lump sum with due regard to the probable [Limit of Imprests] expenditure of the Auditor, but it must at no time exceed one average months expenditure, and should generally be considerably under that limit, as the Auditor can at any time get himself recouped in the manner provided for any unexpected demands; consequently though the account of each he may be supplied with at one time must not exceed the amount of his imprest, the amount of cash he may receive during the month,

must be suited to his actual disbursements.
He must keep all supplies of cash, received on account of his dispersal imprest, apart from the cash of his Treasury.

No. 11342-50—L. F. 216-96, DATED, BANGALORE, 17TH APRIL 1897.

ORDER THEREON.—The Deputy Commissioner of Mysore, having urged the necessity for raising the imprest amount held from District Funds by the Amildars in his district, the Deputy Commissioners of districts and the Comptroller were requested to state what imprest was allowed to each taluk, and whether it was sufficient or required to be increased. Their replies have now been received and read as above. The accompanying statement, which has been compiled therefrom, shows the existing and proposed imprests.

2. The Comptroller is in favor of granting all the Amildars of the province uniformly a sum of Rs. 300, as imprest, but the Deputy Commissioners have proposed varying grants in accordance with the probable requirements of each taluk.

3. Government are of opinion that imprests should be allowed to the extent noted in the last column of the statement referred to in para 1 above. Sanction is conveyed accordingly; and the Deputy Commissioners are requested to follow, in regard to these imprests the instructions contained in the Comptroller's Circular printed with Government Proceedings No. 18727-37—L F 442-92, dated 4th May 1894, and to see, from time to time, that the imprests allowed do not exceed the average monthly expenditure.

4. The Kadur Deputy Commissioner's report shows that certain imprests are held by the Amildars in his district from Local Funds General. On this point, the practice elsewhere should be reported by the Deputy Commissioners concerned. The Comptroller will also favor Government with his opinion as to the possibility of allowing any imprest from a fund which does not belong to District Fund circles, but from which occasional grants are specially made according to circumstances.
